E > Relief Distribution:

Shuhada Organization has also been responsible for the distribution of relief among the displaced refugees of Kabul in Quetta and Jaghori. Relief was also distributed directly among the masses of Kabul by the Organization.

Shuhada Organization is a non-political and non-governmental organization which aims at the welfare and progress of Afghan masses living outside and inside Afghanistan.

The Organization was established in the Quetta City of Pakistan during the year 1989. The establishment of the Organization was masterminded by Dr. Sima Samar, who now acts as the managing director of the Organization.

Since the date of Its establishment, the Organization has striven in providing assistance and support to the Afghan refugees in Pakistan as well as the people living inside Afghanistan.

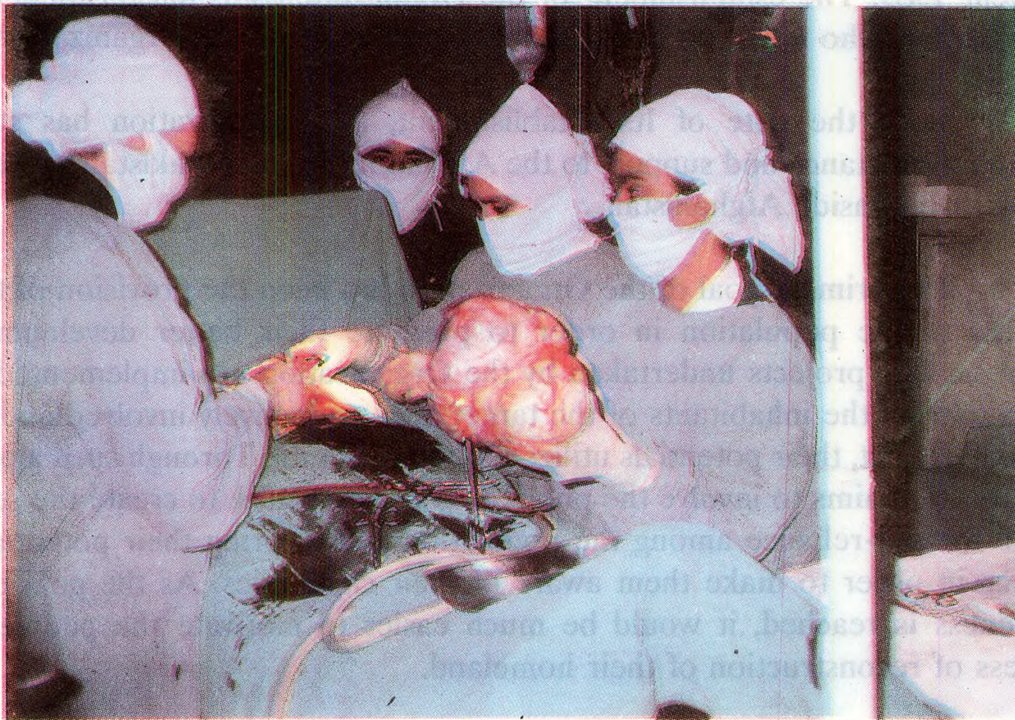

The primary goal of the Organization has been the provision of the basic services to the population in order to promote their better development and progress. The projects undertaken by the Organization are implemented in such a way that all the inhabitants of the target area are actively involved and merged into the project, their potentials utilized to the maimum. Through such a policy the Organization aims to involve the public in social activities, to create the sense and desire for self-reliance among the population and to bring their potential to the surface in order to make them aware of their capabilties. As the goal of public awareness is reached, it would be much easier to motivate the people for the process of reconstruction of their homeland.

The Organization has given special consideration to the involvement of women in these activities. A majority of the projects undertaken by the Organization involve women directly.
